Written poorly and very dull!

Great!!

As described, shipped fast

Very helpful for my studies

This text is literally what it says on the cover. It explores the essential competencies set forth by the American Nurses Association for individuals pursuing their doctorate in nursing practice... and it does so in greater depth and in more words than one might have thought humanly possible. It isn't that the competencies aren't relevant, but this text feels like it's about 80 pages longer than it needed to be. When you're a busy graduate student who's also working that's time you'd prefer to have for something else.

The information in this text seems accurate. The writing is horrible - passive voice, multiple spelling and verb tense errors. I would expect better writing in a text intended for master's and doctoral students.
