The book "Love for a Lifetime": Building a Marriage is a wonderful book. My husband and I were given this a a gift 28 years ago . Our son is contemplating Marriage so we are giving him one.

You don't need to be thinking about marriage or even married to benefit from this insight and knowledge. Men and women should read this before looking for love. It would ensure the protection of their own heart and equip them with proper expectations once the lust and glitz of a new love wore off.

Gift purchase - was told this is a very good book.

The book is fundamental for engaged and/or newlywed couples. It's touches the heart, is concise with great illustrations and beautiful photos. I read an earlier version of this book more than 15 years ago. I've been a big fan of Dr. Dobson since the late 70's when my family, now 6 children, were being born and growing up. My husband and I are in our 38th year of marriage, and "later is most certainly greater" for us. This book helped me through some of the struggles that are "reality" for many committed Christian couples in today's world of high divorce rates. I purchased this book for my daughter's bridal shower, and plan to give it to each of my other children before they marry.Â Love for a Lifetime: Building a Marriage That Will Go the Distance (Dobson, James)

Loved how this book made me think about my marriage and how to incorporate some of the book's principles into our daily lives.

this is my gift of choice to newly-weds. The towels will get worn, the dishes will crack and break,, the glitter of so many other things will fade, but if a couple will take seriously their commitment to each other this book will help them "finish the course with joy"...

LoveExcellent book. The only thing I don't agree with is divorce isn't always worse for the children. If if children don't see a loving marriage between their parents and then witness emotional or physical abuse it's not better to stay in the marriage.

Great read for engaged, newlyweds, or dating.
