This publication is excellent but it lacks broad overviews. As a result you have difficulty locating the appropriate pages to follow on as you travel and for someone who relies on it while traveling it is a distinct disadvantage. Plus, the grids should be referenced in a manner that allow the reader to have a clear understanding of where they are on the map and more to the appropriate corresponding pages. In light of the lack of other compilations it is probably your best alternative but cumbersome and distinctly difficult for a tourist from another country once you venture north..

Very hard to read names / road numbers. Not very useful.

great atlas, nice maps, well symbolized. The smallest type is a bit too small to me, but it's clear and readable. Page thickness is good.

Good map book. Includes city maps. The disadvantage was that we often seemed to be travelling along the spiral center of the book.

This map helped navigate us through Croatia and Slovenia-it was more a reference than anything. We had a GPS but it is nice to see a map and get a rough idea of distance etc.

This is what I was looking for detail and yet easy manage.

Nice heavy weight paper
Good maps of highways, but not enough street maps in small cities Might as well stick with Google Maps
